

Bibliography on Ape Canyon Incident, 1924. Compiled by Daniel Perez, Post Office Box 17302, Anaheim Hills, California 92817. (951) 522-7334. perez952@sbcglobal.net

(Researchers responsible for the collection of this material are George Haas; Warren Thompson; Chuck Flood; Marc Myrsell; Roderick Dyke and Daniel Perez. This bibliographical compilation is to be considered preliminary and certainly not free from errors. November 28, 2019).

“Ape-Man Story Is Jolted. Six Shooters Greet Boys.” Portland, Oregon, Daily Journal, July 21, 1924.

“Apes Don’t Worry Boys.” Portland, Oregon, Morning Oregonian, July 24, 1924.

“Ape Men Tribe Is Found.” Hamilton, Ohio, Evening Journal, July 17, 1924, page 1.

“Apemen Of Mt. St. Helens ‘Return’ To Spread Terror.” Washington state newspaper, no source, August 2, 1963.

Beck, Fred. I Fought The Apemen Of Mt. St. Helens. Kelso, Washington: privately published, 1967.

“Bottom Falls Out Of Story On Mountain Devil.” Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, Evening News, July 18, 1924, page 6.

“Boys Explain Ape Hoax. Portland Lads Find Cabin; Threatened With Guns.” Portland, Oregon, Morning Oregonian, July 22, 1924.

“Clue To ‘Gorilla Men’ Found May Be Lost Race Of Giants.” Seattle, Washington, Daily Timer, July 16, 1924.

Dahinden, René. Taped interview with Fred Beck. Kelso, Washington, 1968.

Dana, Jo. “People Still Ask About The ‘Hairy Ape Men’ Of Mt. St. Helens.” Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, April 13, 1969.

Davenport, Marge. “Amazing Things Found In Hunt For Truth About St. Helens ‘Apes.’” Portland, Oregon, Journal, August 14, 1963.

Davenport, Marge. "Ape Canyon Holds Unsolved Mystery." Portland, Oregon, Journal, August 7, 1963.

Davenport, Marge. "Apemen Search Renews Interest In Mt. St. Helens." Portland, Oregon, Journal, June 3, 1964.

Davenport, Marge. "Eerie Howl Of 'Hairy Apes' Heard By Mountain Climber." Portland, Oregon, Journal, August 2, 1963.

Davenport, Marge. "'Monster' Sightings Rekindle Old 'Apes' Legend." Portland, Oregon, Journal, August 1, 1963.

Davenport, Marge. "St. Helens' Hairy Ape In Nice Habitat." Portland, Oregon, Journal, August 5, 1963.

Davenport, Marge. "U.S. Agency Asked To Rule Mt. St. Helens 'Ape' Area." Portland, Oregon, Journal, August 13, 1963.

"Devil Ape Story Is Partly Confirmed." Bend, Oregon, Bulletin, July 16, 1924, page 6.

"'Devil' Hunt Abandoned In Wash[ington]." Santa Ana, California, Register, July 25, 1924, page 4.

"Did Seance Make Bear Ape Man?" Portland, Oregon, Journal, July 14, 1924.

Doyle, James. "Mt. St. Helens Apemen Legend Returns With Summer Weather." Medford, Oregon, Mail Tribune, July 1, 1964.

Duncan, Don. "St Helens Mystery Real Hair-Curler." Seattle, Washington, Times, April 16, 1967, page 18.

"Expeditions Leave For 'Mountain Devil' Hunt." Longview, Washington, Daily News, July 16, 1924.

"Fears 'Ape Men.'" Roseburg, Oregon, News-Review, July 21, 1924, page 1.

"Fight With Big Apes Reported By Miners. Fabled Beast Are Said To Have Bombarded Cabin." Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 13, 1924.

“Find Rocks In Cabin At Spirit Lake.” Portland, Oregon, Journal, July 16, 1924, page 1. (Mention of Fred U. Robin: “About 30 years ago [1894] I saw what I believed to be one of the same kind of animals which Marion Smith said his party saw.”).

“8-Foot Ape Men Are Myths, Says Rangers.” Purcell, Oklahoma, Register, September 25, 1924, page 7.

“8-Foot Ape-Men, Believed To Be Last Of Indian Tribe, Sought In Washington Wilds.” Brooklyn, New York, Daily Eagle, July 17, 1924, page 3.

“8-Foot Ape Men Hunted On Coast.” Camden, New Jersey, Courier-Post, July 19, 1924, page 9.

“Go In Quest Of Ape-Men.” Chillicothe, Missouri, Constitution-Tribune, July 18, 1924, page 7.

“Gorilla Men On Spirit Lake.” Portland, Oregon, Morning Oregonian, July 1924.

“Gorilla ‘Spooks’ Seance Is Blamed. Expeditions Off.” Tulare, California, Advance-Register, July 15, 1924, page 1.

Gregory, L. H. “Greg’s Gossip.” Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, February 4, 1962.

Gregory, L. H. “Spirit Lake Apes Laid To Illusion. Joke Believed Played On Miner Smith.” Portland, Oregon, Morning Oregonian, July 19, 1924. (Photos of the cabin shown in newspaper article. As per Marc Myrsell, note from November 23, 2013. “He [Bob Gimlin] visited cabin with Roger Patterson in Summer of 1963 or 1964. The cabin was in a dilapidated condition. In seeing this photo [from the newspaper] he confirmed that this is the cabin he visited.”).

Holmes, Kenneth L. “The Apemen Of Mount St. Helens.” Washington, no newspaper source, September 2, 1964.

“Hunters Seek ‘Mountain Devils.’ Huge Gorillas Are To Be Stalked. Lewis River ‘Wild Men’ Doubted.” Portland, Oregon, Telegram, July 14, 1924.

“Kelso Miners Back With Tale Of ‘Mountain Devils.’” Longview, Washington, Daily News, July 12, 1924.

“Kelso Police Start Hunt For Ape Man On Mountain.” Portland, Oregon, News, July 16, 1924.

Kelso, Washington, Kelsoinan, July 16, 1924. (Mention of Marion Smith seeing tracks near their claims prior to 1924).

“Latter Day Apes Declare Rangers.” Great Falls, Montana, Tribune, July 18, 1924, page 3.

“Legendary Mt. St. Helens Apemen Called Legitimate.” Longview, Washington, Daily News, June 27-28, 1964.

Longview, Washington, Daily News, July 14, 1924.

MacGowan, Howard. “Devils Draw Crowd To Mountain! Prints Of Feet Are Found!” Portland, Oregon, News, July 17, 1924.

MacGowan, Howard. “Something Rotten In Apedom; Darn Things Still Hide!” Portland, Oregon, News, July 21, 1924, page 1.

“Massivebrain Colossal Fibber. Telegram’s Expert Sell Soul. Writer Joins ‘Mountain Devils.’” Portland, Oregon, Telegram, July 18, 1924.

Maxwell, W. A. “Wild Man Stories Are Old.” (Letter to the editor). Portland, Oregon, Morning Oregonian, July 18, 1924.

“Mr. Darwin, Here You Are. Kelso Offers Missing Link.” Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 13, 1924.

“Mountain Ape Has Protector. Wife Pleads With Kelso Police. Name is Toad Waterman Horse.” Portland, Oregon, Telegram, July 1924.

“Mountain Devil Claim Reiterated.” Portland, Oregon, Telegram, July 1924.

“Mountain Devils Possible, He Says.” Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 18, 1924. (“He” is a reference to Glenn Ranck, local historian and author to several books).

“‘Mountain Devils’ Story Imagined, Says Expert.” Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 18, 1924. (“Expert” mentioned is Major Lee Morehouse).

Myrsell, Marc. Mountain Devil! The 1924 Ape Canyon Attack & Its Aftermath. Westport, Washington: privately published, 2019.

“No Evidence Is Found Of Fierce Kelso ‘Ape Men.’” Eugene, Oregon, Guard, July 17, 1924, page 1.

“No More Devil Hunting.” Skamania County, Washington, Pioneer, August 1, 1924.

Paducah, Kentucky, Sun Democrat, July 17, 1924, page 1. (Article has no title).

Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 20, 1924. (Image of “‘Big Bill’ Knapp is guise of Hairy Apes of Spirit Lake...”).

“Party To Hunt For ‘Mountain Devils.’ Reported Attack On Prospectors To Be Probed.” Portland, Oregon, Morning Oregonian, July 14, 1924.

Patterson, Roger. Do Abominable Snowmen Of America Really Exist? Yakima, Washington: Franklin Press, Inc., 1966. (Roger Patterson first to showcase the Fred Beck story in a book and also one of the first Bigfoot investigators to conduct a taped interview with him as per the promotional at the end of his book).

Portland, Oregon, News, July 15, 1924.

Portland, Oregon, News, July 19, 1924. (Photo of a track found near cabin).

Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 30, 1924. (Cartoon about “ape hunters.”).

Portland, Oregon, Telegram, July 15, 1924. (Leroy Perry Smith).

Portland, Oregon, Telegram, July 16, 1924. (Cartoon about the “Ape-Man.”).

“Report Finding Of Ape-Like Tribe Of Savages In Wilds Of Washington.” Asbury Park, New Jersey, Press, July 18, 1924, page 11.

“Seek Ape-Men Reported Seen On Mount St. Helen’s.” Buffalo, New York, Commercial, July 17, 1924, page 2.

“Seek Habitat Of Ape-Men Roaming Thru Washington.” Paducah, Kentucky, Sun-Democrat, July 17, 1924, page 1.

“Shorter And Lighter.” Portland, Oregon, Telegram, July 1924. (Article is “By R. L. M.”).

Skamania County, Washington, Pioneer, August 1, 1924.

“Speaking Of Those Hairy Apes of Spirit Lake.” (Cartoon, no newspaper source but presumed to be Washington state). 1924.

“Spirit Lake Ape Story Is Called Hoax.” Portland, Oregon, Journal, July 17, 1924, page 1.

“Spirit Lake Cabin Harbors No Apes. Rocks Declared Taken From Diggings In Mine. Place Is Hard To Reach.” Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 20, 1924.

“Tale Of Gorillas Branded As Myth. Forest Rangers Find No Support For Story.” Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 18, 1924.

“Talk Of Miners Is Unshaken.” Portland, Oregon, Telegram, July 1924.

Totsgi, Jorg. “Ape Hunt To Fail. Seehtiks Said To Roam At Spirit Lake.” Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 17, 1924. (Jorg Totsgi aka Philip Hugh Howell, as per Marc Myrsell).

Totsgi, Jorg. “Apes Declared To Be Seeah-tik Indians.” Hoquiam, Washington, The Real American, July 17, 1924, page 1.

Totsgi, Jorg. “Big Hairy Indians Back Of Ape Tale. Mountain Devils’ Mystery Grows Deeper.” Portland, Oregon, Morning Oregonian, July 16, 1924.

“Tourist Flee ‘Gorilla-Man’ Hunt; Posses Arrive And Fishermen Quit.” Seattle, Washington, Daily Times, July 16, 1924.

“Trappers’ Cabin Bombarded At Night By Ape-Men 8 Feet Tall. Of Wilderness Tribe, Thought Extinct, With Hair Bodies Like Bears, Hypnotists And Ventriloquists.” Boston, Massachusetts, Globe, July 17, 1924, page 14.

“Tribe Of Ape Men In Washington.” Deadwood, South Dakota, Pioneer-Times, July 18, 1924, page 1.

Van Arsdol, Ted. "Despite Skeptics, Lack Of Evidence, The Mountain Ape Legend Survives." Vancouver, Washington, Columbian, March 10, 1965.

Van Arsdol, Ted. "Mt. St. Helens 'Apes' May Roam Once More, At Least Around Summer Night Campfires." Vancouver, Washington, Columbian, May 22, 1964.

Van Arsdol, Ted. "'Wild-Eyed' Rifleman Fleeing Devils Of Peak Launched Legend Of Mt. St. Helens Apes." Vancouver, Washington, Columbian, March 9, 1965.

Vancouver, Washington, Columbian, March 10, 1965.

Watson, Ralph. "Those Washington Monkeys. T. Paer Sees Nature Faking." Washington state newspaper, July 15, 1924.

"Y.M.C.A. Boys Stage Hike." Portland, Oregon, Oregonian, July 13, 1924.